

I have listened to XM radio for several years and enjoy the right to listen as I choose and not what someone thinks I should listen to. It is refreshing to have instant information available in the large market areas to listen to traffic and weather information. I hope it will be expanded to my home area, at least now when I travel some 200 days per year I get what I need and when needed. Normal radio station traffic reports are sometimes hard to find in a non home area.
